

Additional Account Authorization

The undersigned Customer hereby authorizes and directs Puma Financial, LLC (Puma) to open a new account using all existing account documentation including but not limited to Customer Agreement(s), Customer Account Application information and risk disclosure statements and acknowledgements of receipt thereof (collectively "Account Documents") maintained and existing on file with Puma. Customer accepts and agrees to be obligated to all of the representations and terms and conditions contained within the existing Account Documents. Customer acknowledges receipt of risk disclosure statements previously supplied by Puma. The Account Documents are herein incorporated in this Authorization by reference.

Customer further represents that any additional account opened pursuant to this authorization is identical in all respects to customer's existing account, except as otherwise disclosed to Puma in writing, and further represents that there have been no material or important changes in customer's personal information or financial condition as previously disclosed in the prior Account Documents.

Customer acknowledges that his/her/its separate accounts will not contain long positions in one account and offsetting short positions in another account unless such accounts are independently traded or unless one account is a Speculative Account and the other is a Hedge Account. In any event, customer understands that positions in separate accounts cannot be transferred from one account to another account if such transfer would result in an offsetting transaction.

Customer represents that the additional account is for his/her/its benefit and no other undisclosed person or entity has any interest in any additional account.
